Idaho Juvenile Justice Association Members:

Thank you for visiting the Idaho Juvenile Justice Association website. Our annual conference is in Moscow, Idaho September 11-14, 2011. This year's focus will include speakers on juveniles with mental health disorders.

Being a member has its benefits! We offer IJJA scholarships for conference attendance and scholarships through the Juvenile Justice Commission. These scholarships cover registration, some meals, and double occupancy rooms. The IJJA conference is one of the best opportunities for continued education in the juvenile justice field held in Idaho. The opportunity for scholarships to the conference makes IJJA a great deal for agencies needing training for their staff. It is also a great way to network and get to know those other juvenile justice professionals throughout the state that you may have only met via phone or email.

There is a process to receive a scholarship. First you must be a paid member and you must apply for the scholarship. If you are drawn for a scholarship, you must sign an acceptance form and later register for the conference. All of these steps must be completed by their deadlines, or the scholarship is offered to another IJJA member.

Please take the time to visit the website often; we add information about the conference and scholarship process as it becomes available.

Please let me know if I can answer any questions or if you have any suggestions for the IJJA conference. Hope to see you in Moscow in September!

Thank you,

Aletia Straub, IJJA 2011 President
